

“無問東西” - 第二屆中國當代藝術家展

3月26日上午,在克利夫蘭州立大學畫廊,我與負責第二屆“中國當代藝術家展”的李倩教授相約,我們一起觀看由美國克利夫蘭州立大學藝術系和孔子學院共同主辦的“無問東西 ---- 第二屆中國當代藝術家展”。參展作品出自26位著名中國藝術家,許多作品反映了當代的社會年輕人的現實生活。我與李倩在一幅用鉛筆畫的線條畫前停下拍照,我對李倩說:這是一幅

期日特別趕到克利夫蘭為黃先生開門參觀畫廊,黃先生非常驚喜這個畫廊有这么多名人有創意的作品,畫廊里還設有3D視頻介紹,另外參展的藝術家均參加過多次國際大規模畫展和聯展,多次獲得獎項,大

修行作品。

3月22-23日,紐約的報社同行黃天波先生來到克利夫蘭,黃先生住的旅店對面就是克利夫蘭州立大學藝術系的畫廊,因為是星期天,畫廊沒有開門,我給李倩寫了微信,李倩熱情地在星

量作品被國內外藏家收藏。

畫展展期為3月8日至4月20日,本次參展的作品從中國特別空運來克利夫蘭,這對中美文化交流有着深遠的影響,希望大家把握機會,前往觀賞。

About this Event

In celebrating Cleveland Asian Festival's 10-year anniversary and National Asian Pacific Islander American Heritage Month, the Levin College has partnered with Cleveland Asian Festival and Asian Pacific American Advocates, Greater Cleveland (OCA) to present AsiaTown and the Asian American Experience.

Ohio is home to over 238,000 Asian-Americans with almost 67,000 living in the Cleveland Metropolitan area and over 39,000 in Cuyahoga County. When the first Chinese arrived in Cleveland in 1870, Chinatown formed, relocated twice, and eventually evolved to our present day AsiaTown. For many years, AsiaTown remained a hidden gem that unveiled itself more widely in recent years due in part to the popularity of the Cleveland Asian Festival and the growing Asian Pacific American (APA) community. Regardless of where Asian Pacific Americans live, work, or play they have a connection with Cleveland's AsiaTown. Hear our diverse group of panelists talk about their own personal experiences, perspectives on AsiaTown, and the future of the APA community in Cleveland.

Panelists:

Johnny K. Wu

A native Clevelander raised in Central America, Johnny Wu is, a veteran award-winning producer with an MBA (from Cleveland State University) specialization in branding. Fluent in Chinese, Spanish and English, Johnny is well known and respected within the Asian Pacific American community in Ohio, he is one of the co-founder of the Cleveland Asian Festival, as well as recognized by ethnic cultural groups as the Producer for Cleveland Cultural Gardens' One World Day since 2015.

Asim Datta

Asim Datta was born in Kolkata, India and moved to Cleveland in the early 80s. Even though Cleveland was in the economic doldrums at the time, he discovered much that the region had to offer, and chose to remain. Almost thirty-eight years now. And never a moment of regret!!

Asim's passion has always been peoples and cultures, and besides running a travel business for decades which fulfilled his thirst for world, he devoted much of his life to bringing people and cultures of the world together. He strongly believed that colors and cultures enhanced the beauty and richness of any community!!

He has given his time and effort to his community by serving on boards and committees in refugee resettlement (International Services Center), International Community Day by Cleveland Art Museum's International Cleveland Community Advisory Committee, helped found Worldwide Intercultural Network (now ICC-WIN), helped with the Cleveland Asian Festival, Cleveland International Folk Festival, the Asian Indian Heritage Project, Cleveland Cultural Gardens and its One World Day, and FICA (the Federation of India Community Associations of NE Ohio). As president of FICA, his focus remained on opening doors and windows to the greater community to offer insights in to Indian cultures, and opening the minds of the Indian community to the outside world!!?
